

Ascend C2C data path: flow organization around a replaceable core

Architecture flow A controls reuse and movement; processing unit P is replaceable inside the local box.

Current production path: one transform stays within one AIV; batch parallelism distributes independent transforms across AIVs.